

— Brief Introduction of the Society —

Taiwan Society of Interventional Radiology (TSIR)

The Taiwan Society of Interventional Radiology (TSIR) was founded in 16th December, 2016 by Professor Huei-Lung Liang, MD, who is the Director of the Department of Radiology at Kaohsiung Veterans General Hospital. Although only founded 4 years ago, our society has grown rapidly, and currently consists of 305 members from all related professions, including radiologists, gastrologist, radiological technologist, and basic researchers of radiology.

TSIR was founded to promote academic research in interventional radiology, create accessibility and to up to date and advanced re-education for young and experienced interventional radiologists, improve patient care, and encourage international and interdisciplinary exchange of knowledge.

In the past two years, we have organized many quarterly and annual meetings to promote and advance interventional radiology, including just successfully hosting the latest "APSCVIR 2021 The Art of Breaking Boundaries" , where invited experts from Taiwan, Japan, Korea, Singapore, Malaysia and China gave lectures and shared their experiences in the field of interventional radiology.

TSIR is excited and honored to be invited to join TDDW 2021. In this era of precision medicine, interdisciplinary collaboration and exchange of ideas is critical to excellence in patient care. We look forward to you all in September.
